

SOLEVA — VINCENT VAN DUYSSEN 2026

Soleva explores the balance between lightness and presence, combining structural solidity with carefully calibrated comfort. It accompanies the flow of the day en plein air with a natural rhythm marked by the movement of the sun, from which the project takes its name. The architectural language shared by all elements of the family is defined by a continuous, slender and precise tubular frame that establishes proportions and gestures with elegant rigor. The lines, though clear and well-defined, appear soft and shaped, creating a sense of naturalness and visual harmony. Lightweight, durable and high-performing for outdoor use, the powder-coated finish is available in two colors: Nuvia White and Selva Green. The tactile experience of Soleva furniture is enriched through the innovative use of new materials. The backrests are composed of vertical slats made of marine plywood—an ecological, recycled material—chosen for its durability and elasticity, as well as for its delicate tactile quality thanks to the EVA coating. From armchairs to dining elements and the chaise longue, Soleva creates a true design landscape: a light, carefully calibrated architecture that communicates modernity with discretion. Each piece captures the balance between space and form, light and material, conveying a sense of calm and openness—ideal for experiencing outdoor living with contemporary elegance and refinement.
